

NAGLREITER™ Medical Device Development Organization is partnering with Hasten LLC to bridge MedTech Start Up expansion to the US Marketplace

March 13, 2020, Miramar, FL – NAGLREITER™ (www.nmddo.com) is proud to announce a Latin American based partnership with Hasten LLC aimed to optimally bridge Latin American medical technologies seeking a deeper presence into the US market. “Latin America is an enormous market with lots of local innovation that has a hard time reaching the European and US markets. Hasten has a history of supporting MedTech companies with LATAM regulatory and distribution strategies, but they are equally dialed into the local innovation and export networks. Our partnership with Hasten will utilize the NAGLREITER™ ELEVATOR™ service offering as a collaborative model for LATAM technologies seeking a US market presence. We are thrilled in our partnership to mutually guide and support MedTech opportunities all aimed at winning in the US marketplace”, said Tim Blair, VP of Sales and Marketing at NAGLREITER™.

NAGLREITER’s unique ELEVATOR™ service objective is to build company / project value by developing superior technologies combined with strong business systems and best in class leadership. With Hasten’s relationships and knowhow in Latin America and Asian markets, the partnership brings MedTech innovators deeper value, local support, more efficiencies, and better access to key markets.

About NAGLREITER™: NAGLREITER™ Medical Device Development Organization (MDDO) is a trusted partner for concept incubation, design, development, manufacturing, and engineering services within the MedTech industry. NAGLREITER™ prides itself on providing world-class services and employing a uniquely flexible business model to do so. NAGLREITER™’s ‘The Right Path. With You’ business philosophy exemplifies the company’s commitment to partnering with clients in any way they require to yield the best possible outcomes.

Based in the Miami / Ft. Lauderdale area, NAGLREITER™ partners with medical device companies within the U.S. and abroad.

About Hasten: Hasten LLC specializes in the Health industry with a keen eye on business opportunities in emerging countries. One of their main differentials is their capacity to combine the knowledge of the culture and demands of the international investor to the way business is done in Brazil and Latin America in human and animal health segments. www.hasten-llc.com
